The Cronin Suspects.

More Evidence Produced to Prove Them Guilty.

THE BLOOD-STAINED TRUNK

Is Brought Into Court and Identified as the One Sold to "Simonds"—Burke's Confession in Winnipeg Not Believed by Deputy State's Attorney Baker.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Judge McConnell's court, in which the Cronin trial is in progress, was called to order nearly half an hour later than usual yesterday morning. Patrick McGarry, who occupied the chair at the time of the adjournment, was still a witness.

A. R. Donahue, of counsel for the defense, moved to strike out all of that part of McGarry's evidence in which McGarry described his visit to the house of Defendant O'Sullivan, after Dr. Cronin's murder, and at which time he questioned O'Sullivan closely about his contact with Cronin. A long argument followed. It was finally decided to postpone a decision on the point till afternoon in order to allow counsel to present authorities. Pending that the cross-examination of McGarry was also postponed.

George Reilly, a barkeeper, testified that shortly before the murder he saw O'Sullivan, Coughlin, ex-Detective Mike Whalen and several others in a saloon. Politics were under discussion and Coughlin remarked that a North Side Catholic was talking too much and that he would get the worst of it, or words to that effect.

He also said that the man in question had better keep his mouth shut. The defense wanted this stricken out, and Judge McConnell was inclined to grant the motion until counsel for the state said that they would connect it with other evidence and that its force would be seen at another stage of the case. On cross-examination the witness stuck to it that the words used were "a North Side Catholic."

James Quinn, a hatter, who was one of the party in question, corroborated Reilly, but said the conversation at first had reference to the mayoralty election. Then Coughlin made the remark referred to, and witness said he would "like to see Finerty's head come off."

Judge Longenecker wanted to introduce the letter that had passed between Beggs and Edward Spellman, of Peoria. Foster, for Beggs, was willing, but Forrest objected in behalf of Coughlin, O'Sullivan and Burke. The matter was passed for the present, and W. P. Hatfield, salesman for Revell & Company, took the stand. He told the story of the mysterious stranger who had called at the store Feb. 18 and purchased a cheap chamber suit, a rocking chair, some cheap carpet, a trunk, bedding and other house furnishing goods. He gave his name as J. B. Simonds, was about five feet six inches high, full face, nose inclined to be Roman, dark complexioned, and dark mustache. Next day he came in and paid for the goods, the amount being $45.50. He had a big roll of money. The goods were ordered sent to 117 Clark street, rooms 14 and 15. He said he wanted the furniture for temporary use. Witness went on to say that he had seen the same furniture again at the Carlson cottage.

"Bring in the trunk," said Mr. Ingram to a bailiff, and the audience crowded to its feet as the blood-stained relic was brought into the room. It was offered in evidence. All of the prisoners with the exception of Beggs paled perceptibly, and acted in a nervous manner.

Mr. Hatfield examined the trunk carefully and said it was identical in every respect with the trunk that he sold "Simonds." Court then adjourned to 2 o'clock.

At the afternoon session Patrick McGarry was recalled to the stand and cross-examined by Attorney Foster. The defense failed to weaken his evidence previously given.

John W. Sampson, better known as "Major," was next called for the state. He testified that, accompanied by a young man named William Lynn, he went to see Dan Coughlin about two years ago. The witness went at the request of John C. Garrity. When he met Coughlin the latter greeted him cordially and said: "I would like very well to have you meet Dr. Cronin some night, and give him a good big licking—beat him." The witness was not inclined to carry out Coughlin's wish, but promised to confer with him further on the following night. He never met Coughlin after that.

Under a severe cross-examination by Attorney Forest the witness admitted himself to be a gambler, a passer of counterfeit money, a robber, a shell-workman, and experienced in most every form of crime except murder, that he had been arrested many times and spent more or less time in jails and houses of correction.

At the conclusion of Sampson's examination the state's attorney asked the judge for a writ of attachment on the person of John T. Garrity. It being obtained, William Lynn, a pal of Sampson's, was called to the stand. His testimony consisted of a corroboration of the meeting between Sampson and Coughlin, at which Coughlin requested Sampson to "sing" Dr. Cronin.

William O'Keefe, Dr. Cronin's tailor, and a member of the Clan-na-Gael, Camp 250 was called to testify to a conversation between Suspect Beggs and himself. He said that Beggs had told him that Dr. Cronin was not a fit man to be on the committee that investigated Alexander Sullivan. The witness asked why, and Beggs replied that Cronin was not a patriot and an honest member of the Brotherhood. To prove his statement Beggs said that Dr.

Cronin had gotten Coughlin into the camp without initiating him. Witness was asked if he had investigated the charge made by Beggs, and if the charge was true. Forest objected, but not before witness had said he had made the investigation and found it false. His testimony was unshaken in cross-examination.

Cornelius Flynn, also a member of Camp 250, testified that he was present when Beggs and O'Keefe had their conversation, and, continuing, corroborated O'Keefe's version of what was said.

Edward G. Throckmorton, who, as the representative of Knight & Marshall rented the rooms at 117 South Clark street to J. B. Simonds, was then sworn in and told of how Simonds called at his office on Feb. 18 and said he wanted the rooms for a brother who was coming from the east to have his eyes treated. Witness gave a personal description of Simonds, which corresponded with that given by witness Hatfield.

Herman Goldman, a collector for the real estate firm, testified to having found the rooms occupied on March 20 and vacated the next day.

James M. Marshall testified to being present when Simonds rented the rooms, but could not describe Simonds' appearance. The defense did not care to cross-examine Marshall, and the court adjourned.

Thinks They Are "Faking."

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 1.—Deputy State's Attorney Baker has left for Chicago. He says that he is satisfied that Burke's fellow prisoners are "faking" to a great extent, and the jury would probably not take much stock in their stories. He has an impression, however, that Burke made some admission to his fellow prisoners, but he fears they are adding greatly to the story. Baker spent several hours with Heffer, who is really the only available witness, Mills being crazy, and Gillette being under a ten years sentence. Baker saw Gillette yesterday, but he absolutely declined to say anything as to what transpired or whether Gillette knows anything.

He says Chief McRae and constable McKinnon, who gave evidence during the extradition proceedings, will go to Chicago to testify. Heffer last night went so far when drunk as to describe the murder in the Carlson cottage, even to the last desperate struggles of the victim, who was pinioned to the floor by two men while another assailant beat his life out with a club.

Sensational Report from Winnipeg.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—A Winnipeg special to The Herald says Assistant State's Attorney Baker, of Chicago, secured a long statement from Burke's fellow-prisoner, Gillette, in the Winnipeg jail. In it Gillette says Burke confessed to him that the men who killed Dr. Cronin were himself, a Dennis and a Dan Coughlin, a Pat Cooney and one other man whose name Gillette does not remember. The murderers were given a lump sum for their bloody work. It was paid, Burke said, in an office on Dearborn street near the Tremont house, and divided among them. Burke told Gillette they killed Cronin because he gave away secrets of the Clan-na-Gael, and squealed on a man who was short in his accounts.

Spellman Found.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Word has just reached here that Edward Spellman, who is wanted as a witness in the Cronin case, has been found at Portsmouth, O., where he is stopping on business. He will come to Chicago Monday, to testify.

PHILADELPHIA'S TASCOTT

Held Upon Five Charges of Forgery—He is an Ex-Ohio Convict.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—Albert Sutherland, the young criminal who has recently gained considerable notoriety because of his resemblance to Tascott, the murderer of Millionaire Snell, of Chicago, was given another hearing in a magistrate's court yesterday on charges of passing forged checks for various amounts on tradesmen in this city.

J. R. Wood, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railroad company, was the principal witness against him, four checks bearing that gentleman's name having been passed by Sutherland. The court room was packed to suffocation with curiosity seekers anxious to catch a glimpse of the prisoner. The magistrate held Sutherland in $3,800 bail on five charges.

Word was received here from Buffalo yesterday that Sutherland is wanted in that city for passing forged checks, and Chief of Detectives Wood says the information in his possession leads him to believe that the man is wanted in many other cities on the same charge.

The prisoner told the chief something of his family history. He says his name is Will A. Brown, and he is a son of James A. Brown, a Chicago railroad man. He says his father secured his release from the Columbus penitentiary on a pardon from the governor, and sent him out west to look after some mining interests.

The young man soon tired of western life, and at the first opportunity ran away and came east. Sutherland, or Brown, claims to have lived near Tascott, in Oak park, and says he and that person were companions years ago.

Probably Not the Benders.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Alandra Monro and daughter, Mrs. Sarah Eliza Davis, passed through the city yesterday morning on their way to Labette county, Kan. Deputy Sheriff Dick, who had them in charge, said he was confident the pair were the notorious Mrs. Bender and her daughter Kate. Mrs. Bender, of Lansing, Mich., was also in the party. She claims to be a daughter of one of the Bender victims. The prisoners declare she is not in her right mind, and that there is nothing in the charges preferred by her.

Affairs in New Mexico.

The Governor Makes His Annual Report to Washington.

HER CLAIMS TO STATEHOOD.

The Governor Says That New Mexico is Endowed With a Greater Variety and Extent of National Resources and Advantages Than Any State in the Union.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—"No more peaceful or safe community is to be found in the whole land," says L. Bradford Prince, governor of New Mexico, in his annual report to the secretary of the interior. "Crime is more rare than in staid New England and one may traverse the whole territory on horseback alone without danger. The days of Billy the Kid, of Rudebaugh, and Hoodoo Brown are long since over."

He cites the fact that in last July he visited Lincoln county, which comprises an area equal to the states of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Delaware and New Jersey, and in all that vast area of 26,500 square miles, there was not a man in jail, though its sheriff is one of the most efficient men in the territory. "I submit," says Governor Prince, "that no similar area in the whole country can show such a record as that."

The governor says that New Mexico is endowed with a greater variety and extent of natural resources and advantages than any state in the Union. This language, he says, may seem extravagant, but he enters into a long discussion of the subject to prove its correctness, and tells in glowing terms of how, even in the year 590, the Toltecs, leaving their old homes in the northwest, journeyed towards Mexico, "sowing the land with corn, cotton and other plants." Cotton and woolen cloth was worn by the people as early as 1540, as were boots and shoes made of leather worn by the inhabitants in 1582.

Educational matters, the governor says, are satisfactory and show encouraging progress. There are 145 schools in which English is taught; 105 in which Spanish is taught, and ninety-five in which both languages are taught.

The condition of the Indians is reported good, and the Navajoes are rapidly increasing both in wealth and population. The question of land titles is discussed by Governor Prince at some length. The present condition of the laws on this subject, he considers very unsatisfactory, and suggests amendments to the law providing: first, for a limitation of the time within which grants can be presented, so that at the end of that time we may at least know when there are no grants; and also the second, creation of a tribunal exclusively for the hearing of these claims and settlement of these titles.

Governor Prince refers to the disappointment felt by the people of New Mexico over the failure of congress to admit her to statehood. He sets forth her claims to admittance, answers the objections urged against her and says its population is "better adapted for safe and conservative self-government than other sections of the west."

The population of the territory is given at 196,000, and taxable property at $45,090,723.

The question of a sufficient water supply, Governor Prince says, is one of the utmost importance to the people of New Mexico. "The people feel," he says, "that it is as much the business of the government to render valuable the immense areas, largely public land, which are now useless for cultivation, as it is to improve the harbors of the seaboard, or the rivers, often so-called by courtesy, of the central states."

Though stock raising has been in a depressed condition for the past year, still there was a slight increase, the number of cattle now in the territory aggregating $1,127,549.

The mining, agricultural and horticultural industries of the territory are represented as in excellent condition.

A summary of Important Arrests Made by a Texas Sheriff.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—The Times-Democrat's Brownsville, Texas, special says: Sheriff Brito and deputies returned yesterday from a successful raid up the river with Capt. Brooks' rangers and Sheriff Wharton and posse from Nueces county. The Mex. Gen. Lojera gave efficient aid and had all the passes of the river guarded from Camargo down.

The sheriff brought in ten prisoners, among them being Moses Deiz and Juan Gutierrez, the murderers of Estaban Garcia, and noted bandits; Tuna and others, who last week attempted to attack Langaos' store at the Amale's ranch but were frightened off by some rancheros riding up, who mistook them for officers, and Jesus Flores, who has successfully evaded arrest for ten years for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Rose at the Russia's ranch; Martin Tribado, one of the bandits who assaulted the Villal ranch the other day, and Juan and Feliciano Barrentes and four other cattle thieves made up the gang.

Yesterday evening deputies also brought in Angel Rebelto from the Union ranch, charged with outraging his own daughter. There are now only two gangs of bandits on the frontier and they are being hotly pursued.

At Matamoros, yesterday, near the Capozen ranch, a force of the Fifth cavalry met a party of outlaws and a sharp skirmish ensued, during which Ramon Hernandez, a noted bad character, was wounded and captured.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

A Vestibule Train Derailed Near Carrollton, Mo.—Other Wrecks.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 1.—At day-break yesterday morning the Chicago and Santa Fe, California vestibule train was derailed near Carrollton, Mo. A rail gave way near that place and all the coaches except the dining and sleeping cars were thrown from the track. Nearly every one in the smoking car was injured. An expressman on the baggage car, named W. D. Campbell was fatally hurt by being crushed under a falling safe. Thomas Beck, a livestock dealer of this city, received fatal injuries. Others seriously injured are: George Kerchenmayer, of this city, leg broken; E. W. Mason, of Kiowa, Kan., badly crushed about the body; Mrs. C. H. Goodwin, of Independence, Kan., bruised about the body, and Charles Newhouse, Peoria, Ill., cut about the back and head.

Col. Hilton, an official of the Santa Fe, took charge of the injured. Some of them were transferred to the Wabash train and brought to this city, and the remainder were removed to the sleeping coaches, which were not derailed. The accident was caused by the spreading of a rail, due to the softening of the road bed by recent rains. The damage to the road is estimated at about $20,000.

A Crash in Lumber.

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., Nov. 1.—About 11 o'clock last night a flat car loaded with lumber, on an Erie eastbound train, broke down near Campville. The lumber slid from its position in such a manner as to overhang the westbound track. Before the train could be signalled the engine of a westbound train crashed into the lumber and was considerably damaged. Charles Scott, of Hornellsville, and D. W. Scribner, of Cameron, brakemen, were slightly injured. Lewis Mapes, of Owego, who was stealing a ride, was also injured, but not seriously. Twenty cars were wrecked, some totally.

Coal Trains Wrecked.

READING, Pa., Nov. 1.—A Reading railroad coal train crashed into another which had come to a stand-still near Aramingo station yesterday. The locomotive was upset and eighteen loaded coal cars were wrecked, blocking the track for five hours. Albert Lord, a fireman, of this city, sustained a broken leg and other serious injuries.

CHURCH RIOT THREATENED.

Protestant and Catholic Factions at War in Marshall County, Kansas.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 1.—Advices just received here by Governor Humphrey say that the Protestant and Catholic factions at Axtell, Marshall county, are at war, and that a riot is threatened. Last week Rev. J. G. White, of Stanford, Ill., announced that he would lecture in the Methodist church against the Catholics on Saturday night. Axtell is a strong Catholic community, and an organization to prevent the lecture was perfected. The preacher persisted, however, and when about to speak was seized by a mob and thrown out of the church window, along with several of his followers. Several fights occurred, and considerable blood was shed before the Catholics got control. The meeting was broken up, but the minister announced that he would return and deliver his lecture. Four of the Catholic leaders were arrested and jailed at Maysville, the county seat, ten miles west.

Wednesday night the minister endeavored to lecture, and he and his faction were again routed. An organization of Catholics has formed at St. Bridget's a few miles distant, to release the four men imprisoned at Maysville. The factions are armed, and a riot at Axtell is threatened. Business has been suspended, and the mayor has called upon the governor for the assistance of the state militia to quell the disturbance. Adj. Gen. Roberts has departed for the place, and Company G, of the Third regiment, has been ordered to the scene of the riot. Axtell is a town of 700 people on the Grand Island railway.

DEFECTIVE MASONRY.

A Number of People Injured by a Falling Wall at Passaic City, N. J.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 1.—One of a number of new buildings being constructed on Monroe street, Passaic City, collapsed yesterday afternoon, and a number of persons were buried under the falling walls and more or less injured. Defective masonry is said to be the cause of the accident. The buildings were being erected by Charles Barnard, of Burlington. The following named persons were injured: Richard Cormack, a bricklayer, of Washington, D. C., back broken, recovery doubtful; L. Goodwin, of Washington, D. C., head fracture; Samuel Taylor, of Baltimore, leg fractured; S. Walls, of Baltimore, shoulder crushed; John C. Ellison, of Burlington, N. J., hand crushed and head cut; William Johnson, of Baltimore, severe internal injuries; John Nash, of Burlington, N. J., two ribs broken.

Indians Swindled.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 1.—Suit has been brought here by a Pottawatomie chief, representing his tribe, for the recovery of large tracts of land out of which the Indians claim to have been swindled. When it was learned that the Indians were to have their lands in severalty a number of men came on the reservation, and, working on the ignorance of the Pottawatomies, induced them to sell for $10 an acre land worth $300, the Indians signing the papers under the impression that they had something to do with the severalty matter. Depositions of Gen. McCook and others bring out these facts. The suit was brought through the general's efforts.

In the New York Post office each of the clerks is "voluntarily" subscribing $10 to the political fund under the civil service rules. While the subscription is voluntary, every man who does not voluntarily subscribe, knows that he will get the bounce.

VICE PRESIDENT LEVI P. MORTON has obtained a bar-room license for his hotel in Washington City in which he lives. Is it not tough on the g. o. p., the professed party of great moral ideas, to have its Vice President of the United States running a bar room at the Nation's capital?

COL. JOHN K. COWEN, attorney for the Baltimore and Ohio Road, and leader of the citizens' reform movement in Baltimore, turned a happy phrase in a speech at a citizens' mass meeting in that city when he said that "every ring has an outside and an inside, the outside being composed of business men, the inside is composed of men who do the business."

It is said that some man by the name of Cox is being groomed by the Republicans in this district for Congress. We would suggest to our Republican friends that Greenup County will be the home of the congressman to be elected in 1890, and his name is Thomas H. Paynter, and if Mr. Cox don't want to be swept from the political horizon by a cyclone he had better keep out of that race.—Catlettsburg Democrat.

GOVERNOR GRAY, of Indiana, is in Ohio this week helping to elect Campbell. The Governor is a politician of national reputation and long experience and what he has to say carries with it a good deal of weight. He says that he does not want to go on record as prophesying a great Democratic victory next month, but he thinks there is a good fighting chance, and all the ordinary signs of Democratic success, he thinks, are discernible. The Republicans are not sympathizing with Governor Foraker's third-term ambition, and are not fighting with the accustomed vigor. Many more are demoralized by the Tanner episode in national politics, and for this and other reasons are much dissatisfied with Harrison's Administration. The Governor thinks that unless the Western Reserve turns out with unusual strength Mr. Campbell will be elected.—Brown County News.

How do the farmers and laboring classes like the Republican plan of collecting from the people in tariff taxes over $100,000,000 a year more than the Government needs which is turned over to rich banks and loaned back to the people at 8 and 10 per cent interest, and the banks getting the interest. In other words the Government takes over $100,000,000 a year more of your money than is needed to meet the expenses of the Government and this money is turned over to rich banks to be loaned back to the people at a high rate of interest thus compelling the people to pay to these banks interest on money that of right belongs to the people. The Democrats favor a reduction of our tariff taxes so as to leave that $100,000,000 a year in the pockets of the farmers and laboring classes to whom it properly belongs and from whom it was wrongfully taken to make the rich richer.—Catlettsburg Democrat.

That excellent writer "Falcon," in a recent letter to the Louisville Times, touches up the pension business with his facile pen. He is an ex-Confederate, and, speaking for himself and others, says: "We are not paupers, and though more of them are drawing pensions than were ever in our armies any time, yet we cheerfully pay our percentage of their salaries. Their conduct is an unwilling tribute to our bravery in battle, and our manhood under the crushing defeat we suffered. Let Corporal Tanner pile pensions as much as he pleases, the fact still remains that had General Lee ever commanded at one time half the number of the present pensioners, he would have subjugated the whole North and made it a province of the Southern Confederacy. And every new pension adds to the glory of the old Rebels. It has been nearly thirty years since the war began, and besides those who were killed outright and those who have died since, there seems to be enough crippled and wounded ones left to have wiped us from the face of the earth, if they had been equals in an element of manhood. Better armed, better equipped, better fed and better clothed, with a numerous people behind them and all the world for a store house, it seems strange that the "ragged Rebels" should have been so deadly, and the Grand Army of the Republic so little capable of inflicting harm in the battle or caring for itself in time of peace. There are not a thousand ex-Confederates asking charity in all the land. There are a half million of the other side now drawing pensions, and as many more to come."

DEMANDING MONEY AND GOT A BULLET.
SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 1.—Patrick Hughes, a desperate character, was fatally shot yesterday afternoon. He entered the house of Martin Schultz and demanded money from Schultz's twelve-year-old daughter. She called to her father, who attempted to force the ruffian from the house. He drew a knife and made a murderous assault on Schultz, who secured a gun and fired two charges into Hughes' body.

THE SLAUGHTER HAS BEGUN

Constitutional Convention.
There is very little being said by the press of the State about the changes that ought to be made in our Constitution. If the coming Legislature decides to call a convention the delegates will likely be selected and in session within one year. The selection of delegates will be one of the most important duties that ever devolved upon the voters of Kentucky. In this instance the office ought to seek the man and not the man seek the office. The delegates should be thoroughly honest, patriotic and intelligent. The questions that will come before this convention will call for the highest statesmanship. The State possesses plenty of good material to select from. For once let politicians and office seekers be sent to the rear and our brainiest men be invited to the front. Among the changes suggested we note that some favor entirely prohibiting local legislation and thus have short sessions of the General Assembly. The ballot system of voting will likely be adopted. Some want to see the county indebtedness shouldered upon the State. A strong effort will be made in certain quarters to authorize the State to loan her credit in the construction of railroads and turnpikes. The new constitution will be submitted to the people for approval and if they don't like it as well as the old one they can vote to reject it. The delegates to the last convention got three dollars a day while in session. The delegates to the proposed convention will get five dollars for each day they are in session.

MR. CAMPBELL Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio in his speeches stated that any person who joined in the attempt to disgrace him and his family by connecting his name with the disgraceful ballot box forgeries was an infamous scoundrel, and several of the Republican papers in the state claim that he had said Governor Foraker was an infamous scoundrel. Mr. Campbell in noticing the charge said he did not particularly refer to Governor Foraker, but he or any other man concerned in the dastardly attack upon what was dearer to him than his life were welcome to take the application as personal.

THERE are said to be 100,000 people destitute and starving in North Dakota—not a very hopeful beginning for a new State. Admission into the Union may create a few more offices, Congressmen and Senators, but it won't make the crops grow.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 1.—A Helena, Mont., special to The Journal says: "Judge DeWolf has sustained the motion of the Democrat's, and issued a peremptory order to have the canvassing board make returns of the Tunnel precincts. A motion for appeal was filed and application made for a stay of proceedings. The Republican attorneys asked to have bonds fixed on the application. The court took a recess to allow authorities to be looked up and presented."

THE open air concert by Haucke's Band last night, as a complimentary testimonial to the Red Corner Clothing House, drew an immense crowd to that famous corner. The programme published a few days ago was charmingly rendered, as only Haucke's Band can, and Captain John T. Martin and his clever clerks were all smiles and politeness.

MISS JOSIE HOLMES, the young woman who figured so notoriously in the Fidelity Bank failure a few years ago, and who managed through the influence of friends to secure a little clerkship in one of the departments at Washington, was dismissed the other day by Secretary Noble. She made a model, clerk, it is said, but her own sex waged war continually against her from the beginning until they succeeded in having her fired.

THE new postal cards soon to be issued will vary in size. There will be three sizes when the contracts are finally taken up—one a fine, delicate card for the ladies use, much smaller than that now in circulation and of much finer quality. Finely calendar paper will be substituted for the old buff blotting paper. An intermediate card of the same size as the one now in use will be introduced that can be used for business purposes, and be large enough to allow a letterhead to be printed thereon, besides the other matter.

TAKE a United States bill of any denomination—if the tax collector has not yet been around and you happen to have one—and hold it up to the light, and you will see two lines running entirely across it lengthwise. Upon examination you will find these consist of a silk thread, a red one and a blue one. Every genuine bill has this mark of genuineness. Without these marks a bill may be put down as counterfeit, no matter how good the engraving on it. No paper mill dare make that sort of paper, and that is the Government's only protection on its currency.

He Stood on the Bridge.

I stood on the bridge at midnight as drunk as a son-of-a-gun, two moons rose over the city where there ought to have been but one. I could see their bright reflection, in the water under me, and I experienced a feeling of wonder and great curiosity. If only one had been there I would not have been in doubt, but what the two moons were doing I could not well make out. The tide was slowly ebbing, I could hear the waters roll, as I stood in the wavering shadows to hide from the night patrol. How often, oh, how often in the days of auld lang syne, I have tried to cross at midnight and got left every time. But to-night I was hot and restless, and my mind was full of care, and the walk that lay before me was more than I could bear. I had no latch key with me and locked would be the door, and I would have to sit on the doorkill as I oft have done before. I'd have to sit in the doorway in agony and fear, till a voice said from the window: "Did the lodge hold late my dear?" So to-night I stood there dreaming, and watching the restless tide, till a cop came up with a wagon and invited me to ride.—Exchange.

Educating the Indians.

A New System Has Just Been Recommended.

WORK FOR THE INDIAN BUREAU.

An Effort to Reach All the Indian Youth of School Age Now Under the Control of the Indian Bureau—Other Dispatches from Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Commissioner Morgan, of the Indian office, has elaborated a system of education designed to reach all Indian youth of school age now under control of the Indian bureau. It is practically the American public school system, adopted to the special requirement of the Indians. It contemplates day schools, primary or home schools, grammar schools and high schools, so related that promotions can be made from grade to grade, and from schools of a low order to those of a higher. It is to be non-partisan and non-sectarian, and teachers are to be employed and dismissed solely on the basis of efficiency or inefficiency.

The industrial feature is to recall especial prominence, and particular pains are to be taken to equip Indian students for the practical duties of life. The "outing system" by which pupils are placed in white families and attend public schools is to be encouraged wherever practicable. The fullest opportunity is to be afforded any Indian youth who desire it to find a home among white people.

Stress is laid upon the necessity of co-education, and of bringing together in the same boarding school members of as many different tribes as possible, in order to destroy tribal antagonisms and to generate a feeling of common brotherhood and mutual respect.

The scheme contemplates the organization of perhaps twenty-five grammar schools, fifty primary or home schools, and enough day and camp schools to reach all who cannot be brought into boarding schools.

Congress, in the commissioners' annual report, will be asked to make a sufficient appropriation to enable the Indian office at an early day to bring every Indian youth of school age, that can be reached, under proper instructions. In no other way, the commissioner says, can the Indian problem be solved; but by this plan of universal education administered in the same spirit that characterizes the administration of public matters in the various states, its solution is easy. Enough has already been accomplished to show that the scheme is entirely feasible. The Indian youth now in school are making excellent progress, and there is a constant demand made upon the Indian office for more and better schools.

Claim of the Cherokees.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—At the request of Secretary Noble, an opinion has been given by Assistant Attorney General Shields on the question, whether the Cherokee nation can relinquish its claim of title to the Cherokee outlet lands without violating the constitution of the Cherokees.

The opinion holds that the Cherokee nation, under the authority given in the Indian appropriation bill of last year, can relinquish to the United States all its rights, claim or title in the Cherokee outlet, that such relinquishment would not be in violation of the constitution as amended of the Cherokee nation, because the constitution does not prohibit such cession to the United States, and a sale of the outlet would only be a change in the character of the property; and that if the constitution of the Cherokee nation did inhibit such action, it would not have any effect, because by the expressed terms of the treaties made with the Cherokees, they acknowledge the sovereign power of the United States.

The provisions of the numerous treaties pertinent to the question made with the Cherokees by the United States, the decisions of the supreme court from 1810 to the present time, and the opinions of the attorney general are cited in support of his opinion by Assistant Attorney General Shields to the effect that there is nothing in the constitution of the Cherokee nation which can present any legal obstacle to such relinquishment.

According to this decision, the Cherokee commission will be able under the Cherokee constitution to complete the negotiations for the relinquishment of these lands with the consent of the Cherokee nation.

Government Engraving and Printing.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—William E. Meredith, the chief of the bureau of engraving and printing, has submitted his report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1889, to the secretary of the treasury. Of the $974,450 appropriated for the support of the bureau, $41,872 remained unexpended at the end of the year. There were completed and delivered during the year 9,201,321 sheets of United States notes, gold and silver certificates, bonds and National bank notes, with a face value of $613,788,850; 28,952,055 sheets of internal revenue and customs stamps, containing 758,603,390 stamps; of miscellaneous work, such as drafts, checks, certificates, licenses, etc., 1,053,788 sheets, besides a large amount of sundry other work for various departments of the government.

No More Danger of Texas Fever.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Secretary Rusk, of the department of agriculture, has issued an order to managers and agents of railroad transportation companies revoking the order of July 3 last, prescribing regulations for the transportation of Texas and other southern cattle, and for the isolation, cleaning and disinfection of pens which had been occupied by such cattle. It is believed that the danger from splenic or Texas fever has passed for the present year.

Must Keep Out of Politics.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Acting Secretary Batcheller has informed Thomas McMaster, the supervising inspector of steam vessels at Buffalo, N. Y., that he could not accept the nomination for alderman and hold his present office. The department received information that Mr. McMaster was an aspirant for aldermanic honors.

Gigantic Opium Smuggling.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—Investigations of the charges of opium smuggling at this port has revealed the fact during the past six months the government has been defrauded of $400,000 in duties through the operations of a gang of smugglers. This is shown by a comparison of the inventories of shipments by leading Hong Kong merchants with the amounts passing through the custom house here.
